Officer's Reports

Eboard (Jaime):

On March 15, we met in person approved loaning Lunacon stuff, specifically some tech equipment and charge boxes, under the Usual Terms. We put Rick Kovalcik in charge of oversight. He reports everything made it back okay. They used one charge box.

Last month we voted to support "past Arisia guests" for Balticon 50, up to $5,000. Jaime noted afterwards that the son of Steven Barnes and Tananarive Due needed to also be flown to Baltimore in order for them to both attend. The eboard deemed this to be in the spirit of the thing we passed, and so unanimously agreed to add their son's transportation as one of the things we would pay for. Lisa added that Harry Turtledove, who was already partially supported, was also a past Arisia GoH; after a poll of the membership via email (wherein nobody objected), we agreed that the monies could also be used for Turtledove. We did not increase the amount above $5,000 to support these two additions. (Note that it is now far more likely that Balticon will use the entirety of the grant.) This requires confirmation from the meeting; moved out of committee. MPU (moved, passed unanimously) to cover Turtledove and Barnes-Due's son.

Per a motion passed last year, wherein the conchair can use up to 2% of his/her/their expected income budget for personal expenses relating to the convention and incurred while chair (such as travel to other conventions to promote Arisia, dinners, or DH gifts), Anna informed the eboard that she would be using that fund to go to the 2016 Worldcon, MidAmeriCon 2, in Kansas City, to reach out to volunteers there, work the convention, learn from other conrunners, and generally raise Arisia's profile. The eboard does not get approval on these expenses (by policy), but expressed general agreement that this was a Good Thing.

We got info from the 2018 conchair candidates: Jaime Garmendia and David D'Antonio (p. 7-8). We reviewed the standard questionnaire. We made an alias which included all the eboard but Jaime to talk about it.

There was some discussion about correlating past incident report data. It was generally agreed that getting stats—insofar as is possible—would be a good thing to do (i.e., how many ambulance calls, harassments, drunk calls, etc., per con). Abby and Jaime agreed to try tackling this.

On April 6th, Andrea Carney asked to borrow two drape poles and two accompanying bases to raise a banner for an event at MIT on April 9th & 10th. Rick Kovalcik would be responsible for transport and set-up/tear-down assistance. SIPB would be financially responsible. We approved this loan. Rick notes she may find an alternative.

President (Conor Walsh): Absent.

Vice President (Jaime Garmendia): No report.

Treasurer (Ben Levy): We have money. If you have questions, see the Mentor (p. 6) or ask Ben.

Clerk (Lisa Hertel): Sign in; it's $10 to join now or $8 after the meeting.

At Large (Daniel Eareckson, Abby Noyce, Jaelen Rachlin): No report.

Committee Reports

A16 (Nchanter): Nothing new to report.

A16 treasurer (Rick Kovalcik): He realizes he's probably the worst offender, but get your expense reports in. Taxes are approaching; having the books closed makes them easier.

A17 (Anna Bradley): We are going to have a con, she still needs a Food DivHead. Onboarding will commence soonly. James Meikle is now Comms DH, Noel is Ops DH, and Diane Martin is Staff Services DH. Kat Wyler is the Events ADH.

Vernon Book: A few weeks ago Anna went to a reading and signing by Ursula Vernon, who is the A17 Author Guest of Honor (it was awesome). After some conversation the idea came up to have a book of some of her electronically-only available material published. Anna and Ben went to NESFA and got the investigatory process started. They would like Corp to fund a small run of signed volumes to be sold at con. Proceeds would go to Arisia; Arisia will pay up front. We would print hardcopy; 500 would cost over $8K, and would sell for $30 each. (A paperback run would cost almost $7K and sell for $25 each.) In either case, we would have to sell about 300 (60%) to break even. Note that corporate members get a discount (but not NESFAns), and some go to the volunteer raffle, and some to the author (and the author usually can buy more at cost). The book would be edited by Sheila Perry. Sharon reminds Anna the book will need to have advertising, at least in the Arisia souvenir book. (We don't actually charge ourselves for our own ads, so the money is irrelevant.) Anna even has a volunteer to do post-con mailings. Jaime wants to know why Anna chose 500; she says it makes it rarer and reduces leftovers. Also, Ursula may want to publish it herself (she has had success selling her books before). Ursula would also do the cover art. Lisa asks about interior art; Sheila doesn't think that would increase the cost much (if it's monochrome). Michael Kerpan (as a NESFA member) says NESFA is enthused. Jaime asks for a timeline and page count; Sheila says typesetting should begin by August. The next step is a contract with Ursula Vernon, the immediately start working on typesetting; proofing would happen in September & October, and it would go to the printer in November to arrive in late December. It will be a 400-page book; the annotated fairy tales, some of her original fairy tales, and other matter. Persis thinks we should print more; perhaps 750? Anna would rather sell out; more can be printed. Abby wonders about post-con sales; Anna says probably via PayPal. Dan points out that buying in bulk saves. Lisa Hertel points out we sold about 200 Powers books, when he was guest of honor, or to about 10% of the membership (which would now be about 400 books). Rick points out leftover books are bad. Many people point out we can reprint (or Ursula or NESFA can); Anna would like them pre-bought, though Sharon is unsure NESFA will agree to this; it's really between NESFA and Ursula. Ellie said selling out is a success. Sheila Perry points out we can also adjust the numbers when we place the order. Sharon says a first printing is special; it always sells better. Arisia doesn't want to become a publisher. Mike Kerpan wonders why the remaining stock will be sold by Arisia; Anna says she's not relying on NESFA buying back the book. This should be committed to now to start the contract negotiations. Anna would like to stick with 500 copies and be conservative. We have about $50,000 unallocated, plus the A16 surplus (which is bigger than we think it should be.)

During this discussion, Jill Eastlake came in, so two proxies go to her—Don Eastlake and Karen Purcell.

Anna moves to spend up to $9,000 to print approximately 500 hardcover Vernon books.

Contractual matters will be handled by Anna and Sheila in consultation with the eboard. (The approximate is because the printer often has under- or overruns.) MPU. Anna reports her con now has a book! Also, she talked to Lee Moyer about the A17 web design. He will also do a logo for A17 that isn't number-specific which we may use again. He is taking ideas from the corporate logo, but trying to represent what Arisia is about as a con, rather than working off the lens motif. They talked about compensation; A17 will pay for Lee's flight and room as trade (but not Venetia's flight).

A17 treasurer (Tom Traina): We have money—more than last month. We are meeting with the Buttercup(s) to get some expertise on the budget; it is almost done.

Budget (Ben Levy): We are ramping up on getting the corporate budget voted on for the June meeting.

CIC (Rick Kovalcik): A bunch of stuff went to Lunacon; the lighting gear needs to be put away. The registrartion printers are also boxed and in storage. Storage is overflowing.

Grants (Jaime Garmendia): There is one grant pending that needs more information. There is $1700 left in the Grants fund, and the pending one is $1000. Andy moves to add $5,000 into the Grants fund. Nchanter points out it should be in the corporate budget, per our bylaws, and we shouldn't add money on spec. Rick points out we allocated $9,000 tonight for a book out of the general fund. Andy's motion dies for lack of a second.

Honors (Fred Isaacs): No report.

Hotel search (Phi): Nchanter says she and Rick Kovalcik went to the grand opening for the Element and Aloft hotels across the street from the Westin Waterfront; the Aloft is interested in being our overflow hotel. (The Element is the one with the studio kitchens, but we probably couldn't get a discount.) For our weekend, the Aloft is about the same as the Westin for a king and slightly more for a double; the Element is $30 more for a king, and $50 more for a double. Anna wonders about having a kosher block at the Element. Nchanter will be talking to our sales contact. Ben asks about the Aloft's function space—one ballroom that is 5,000sf, plus six other rooms (including one called Smoot—no word if it's measured in smoots). Nchanter points out that it would have to be a sufficient draw to get people to cross the street. (The castle year went poorly.) Mike Kerpan asks about the overflow rate; while the rack rate is lower, it's hard to know until we talk to sales people. But it is two blocks closer (and no bridge). We do not yet have a contract for overflow for A17.

IT (Abby Noyce): Mailing lists are being pushed over to the new server. Mail to corp is being delayed.

Logo (Anna Bradley): Anna talked to Lee Moyer. Allan Kent says we should be clear as to ownership.

Long Range Planning (Conor Walsh): Conor is sick, so they will meet in two weeks and report out in May. They have lots of crunchy numbers.

Relaxacon (Buttercup): Buttercup informed us they plan to change the Relaxacon rates, per last summer's motion. Kids are half-price; little kids are free. In June last year, we moved to raise the rates to $25 pre-reg, $30 at the door. The rates are $15 for Friday and Saturday day rates in the policies, and we've been charging $5 and $10 online. He moves to sent the advance day rates to be $10/$20/$5 (Fri/Sat/Sun) in advance, and all $5 more at the door. Children of Fast Track age [6-12] are half-price, children under that age are free. We need to correct the online rates [done per Ben]. Noel asks about memberships already bought? Ben says only weekend ones, so no problem. MPU.

Student Art (Jacob Lefton): Jacob is still in Germany; no report.

Student Writing (Terry Holt): No report. Terry got the checks to send to people. Mike Sprague reminder her to send them out earlier this week; he believes she did so.

Old Business

Son of Arisia: From March's LRP, Conor moved that it is the sense of the corporation that if a small number of staffers come to us proposing a convention, that we would be open to them running it. This was tabled last meeting. We decide to leave it tabled.

New Business

Replacement of Officers: The president appointed an interim clerk this winter; Rick Kovalcik feels we should codify having one of the members-at-large fill in for a vacant office until an election can be held. He moves to merge 3.8 and 3.9. As this is a bylaws motion, we need to discuss this then table it. Tom asks if the office is left open until an election occurs? Rick is not looking to change this. It's noted the member-at-large still only has one eboard vote, even if saddled with two offices. Tabled.

For reference the current wording:

3.2 The duties of the [VP] officer are as follows:

(b) The vice president shall assume the duties of the president during any vacancy in the office of the president and during the president's absence or inability to act. The vice president shall insure that corporate activities are in accordance with federal, state, and local laws. The vice president chairs the Grant Committee.

3.3 Only one person can hold any office at any given time. No person can hold more than one office at the same time. The person approved as convention chairperson for a specified convention may not run for an office until after that convention.

3.8 Whenever any office (including president) becomes vacant, an election shall be held as soon as possible to fill the vacancy. Nominations shall be in accordance with Section 3.4. An officer elected to fill a vacancy shall take office immediately. Pending an election, the president shall fill a vacant office by appointment.

3.9 Whenever both the offices of president and vice president are vacant, the remaining members of the Executive Board shall appoint one of themselves or another General member to act as president until the vacancy can be filled by election.

Moved to amend the bylaws to merge 3.8 and 3.9 and renumber as necessary to:

3.8 Whenever any office (including president) becomes vacant, an election shall be held as soon as possible to fill the vacancy. Nominations shall be in accordance with Section 3.4. An officer elected to fill a vacancy shall take office immediately. Pending an election, the ~~president~~ Eboard shall fill a vacant office of vice president, treasurer, or clerk by appointment, preferably from among one of the current members-at-large. When the office of president is vacant and the vice president has assumed the duties of president as per bylaw 3.2(b), the Eboard would temporarily fill the office of vice president in the same way pending the election for president. When an office of member-at-large is vacant, that office remains vacant pending the special election. Section 3.3 does not apply when a member-at-large temporarily fills an Eboard vacancy.

Signed by Rick Kovalcik, Kris Snyder, Jaalen Rachlin, Noel Rosenberg, and Abby Noyce.

This proposed change started out because of my concern about giving the President alone the power to appoint a replacement in the interim. In the old days that might have made sense. But, in this Internet day and age, it would seem the entire Eboard could easily take part in the decision for a replacement.

It was then pointed out that bringing a new, possibly temporary, member of the Eboard up to speed in the midst of discussions, especially IR reports, might not be a good thing. Recently we effectively followed the process outlined by this amendment with Abby filling in as Clerk and it seemed to work well.

July Meeting/Picnic: Moved to be Sunday, July 17th at Rick Kovalcik's; the corporate meeting is at 2pm, followed by a barbecue picnic at 4pm. Passes unanimously.

Announcements

Anna begs us to spread around Arisia '17 bookmarks. Adjourned 9:02pm.

Next meeting Sunday, May 22th, 2pm, at MIT; quorum is 15 members. (24+36+28=88; 88/3=29.33; 29.33/2=14.66, or 15 people.)

Notice of Incident Report Actions to be Reported on in May:

1. After incidents at A15 and A16, one person will not be able to volunteer in a position of authority (area head or higher) for A17. That person will need to avoid another member, and spaces that member may be in, with whom they had a negative interaction, next year.
2. A person in charge of a group was informed on how to register parties and create events. No other action will be taken at this time.
3. A one-year ban was issued for online harassment.

Fannish Resume for David D'Antonio (aka DDA)

Arisia:

- 2005: Started out as Event Liaison (a single point of contact for an event organizer so they don't have to deal with multiple divisions/areas) and got promoted to Asst. DivHead a couple of months in. The DivHead was sick at con so I took over all Events DivHead duties with consultations with her. This was the year of a blizzard at con so had to come up with an extra day of entertainment as the city was shut down.
- 2006: Events DivHead. For these 2 years, Tech was an Area under Events and so reported to me.
- 2007: Events DivHead. We moved to the Hyatt Regency in Cambridge which had less function space than the Park Plaza.
- 2008: Art Show Director. Arisia Art Shows aren't the size of WorldCon ones, usually, nor do we have retrospectives or other exhibits.
- 2009: Events Consigliere (aka Asst. DivHead :-)
- 2010: Events DivHead
- 2011: Art Show Director
- 2012: Events DivHead - This year, the conChair basically talked me into combining Events and Exhibits (which consisted of the Art Show, Dealers Room, Gaming and Artist's Alley); if it wasn't in a Programming room, I was running it! The Art Show was a particular challenge because I had two Art Show co-Directors who, while friends, had trouble working together. I split them up in that one dealt with the artists and the other did logistics, setup, etc. We also were in new space in the Westin Boston Waterfront and so now had a dedicated Dance space.
- 2013: Asst Events DivHead - I had minimal responsibilities this year; I ran the Blood Drive.
- 2014: Exhibits DivHead - The conChair wanted me to run this division since I had experience (see 2012).
- 2015: Events DivHead - One thing I explicitly wanted to accomplish was to train an assistant DivHead who could take over; I was successful in that my assistant this year helped run Events in 2016.
- 2016: Events Area Head. I started out as an Asst DivHead but politics happened and I was "demoted" to Area Head. My job was to watch mailing lists and advise the Events DivHead(s) given my background and experience.

Worldcon:

Note that Events at Arisia is very different from Events at a WorldCon. Events at Arisia puts on large events; plays, concerts, dances, GoH presentations. If it needs a ballroom, it's under Events. We do have the Masquerade under us but the rest of what we do is mostly a booking service and performer outreach. We are the main consumer of Tech's services.

- Renovation (WorldCon in Reno, NV): Music and Dance Area Head under Events. Brought in somewhat late and responsible for all music, concerts, etc. and dance. Recruited some staff (my dance masters were excellent and handled most of the dances themselves).
- LoneStarCon3 (WorldCon in San Antonio, TX): Ran Masq Green Room. Brought in quite late but had good support from folks had done this at Arisia many times.
- Sasquan (WorldCon in Spokane, WA): Deputy DivHead for Events and Hugo Ceremony Director. Brought in to help with Events with the intention of learning how WorldCons do things. Ended up working with other DDHs and the DH to manage a rather large Events program. About 6 weeks before the con, the Hugo Ceremony Director quit for financial reasons and I took over Hugo Ceremony with one of the other DDHs; they quit about 1 week pre-con (but continued to help out, thankfully!) so I ended up the sole Director. We put on a professional, relatively neutral, show in rather challenging circumstances.
