Major new appointments: Sharon Sbarsky has been added as the third assistant conchair, in charge of kids, food, and member services. I welcome her experience, which includes many conventions beyond Arisia, to our team. Sharon has been a division head at many Worldcons as well. A few of my div-heads are looking for assistants; please contact them if you're interested.

We have two div-head meetings set to discuss the budget: one in Burlington on Tuesday, May 28th at 7:30pm, and the other on Monday, June 10th. I am looking for a venue for the meeting on the 10th. We will also be dissecting the budget at the Relaxacon. The budget will be available for Mentor, to be voted on at the July meeting. A link will be published here, to allow corporate members to comment in advance.

Our June concomm is Sunday, June 23rd at 1pm, at MIT. We are still waiting on the hotel for fall dates.

A14 Treasury (Rachel Kadel-Garcia): No report.

Budget Committee (Ben Levy): I hope to have a budget at the June meeting.

CIC (Rick Kovalcik): Some small progress on getting radios back from Big Apple Ponycon, but they're not back yet.

Grants (Conor Walsh): We have a grant request making its way to us. I am playing phone/email tag and will do better.

Honors (Rick Kovalcik): No report.

Hotel Search (Rick Kovalcik): No report.

Comps (Mike Sprague):

In general this committee was formed due to a perception by some that too many comps memberships for the Arisia convention were being given out. It was felt that this was an increasing trend that was causing a significant negative financial impact upon the convention. The perception was that those members receiving comps were taking up slots in some way that otherwise would have gone to paying attendees.

Is this in fact the case? If so, in what ways can we correct this problem? In practice, at past Arisias, categories of comps have changed from year to year as different Con Chairs and Division Heads have had different requirements for tracking comps. Also, once the categories were chosen the data on those specific comps were seldom, if ever, asked for after con.

The approximate number of comps as of Arisia 2013 is 30% of total registered with an estimated margin of error of $\pm 10\%$. The margin of error is due to several factors. In practice, some comps are often submitted with incomplete information. Ex. Partial or no names, estimated number of comps instead of real numbers etc. At con, as long as a Div Head or Con Chair signs off on it, a comps is entered by Registration.

Consensus:

After evaluating the current policies regarding comps, it was felt that the current requirements for complimentary membership were sufficient. For now, it is believed the convention is receiving significant value from the individuals in exchange for the comps we are giving out. However, in recognition of the concerns brought forth we suggest that the best course of action would be to track comps in a more clear, consistent manner for several years. In this way we can determine the rate of increase in comp memberships, the value the convention is receiving from those comps, and if further action is needed regarding the comps policy. This would be enacted in the following manner:

Comps will be tracked throughout the convention year. This will be done by having Division Heads produce two early estimates of the number of comps needed for their Division in addition to the usual methods of tracking comps (Registration spreadsheet, Zambia).

For example: The Programming Division Head submits an estimated number of Programming comps to Registration in June of the upcoming convention year, most likely based on the previous year's numbers. A second revised estimate is given in September/October of the convention year. The final actual comp numbers are submitted to the Registration spreadsheet and pulled from Zambia by the December deadline in the usual manner. After the convention the number of comps, both estimates and real, along with the impact of those comps are submitted in the Programming Debrief report and are made part of the public record.

The estimated time frame for this study is 3 years, during which time comp categories will not be changed and the various types of special categories (Con Chair gift comp, GOH etc.) and the reasons behind them are to be clearly indicated as well. This comps information will be collected and tracked by Registration. Once this study is completed it can be determined at what rate comps are changing and by how much. At that point, if comps are determined to be increasing at a rate or quantity deemed to be detrimental to the convention suggestions of further action will be made for consideration by the Corporation.

Questions:

Is estimating of comps by Div Heads a new policy? Yes. Did the Registration members of the committee agree to this new responsibility? Yes. Has A14 chair reviewed this? No. Has A15 chair reviewed this? Yes. The timeframe for this is two to three years, no immediate action will be taken. What data are we collecting? We do not have precise data on comp quantities, and we keep changing categories which makes comparisons between years difficult. Are talent comps the problem? They might have once been thought to be, but those numbers are difficult since categories change.

MSPU (Walsh, chorus) to go into committee of the whole.

MSPU (DDA, Mike) To come out of committee of the whole accepting the recommendation to track comps with consistent categories for the next three years and present the data at the end of that period. That main motion then PASSES unanimously.

IT (Ben Levy): Alex set up HostGator; we can start creating sites. It needs work but we have cloned the wiki and moved it over, we are testing that and Drupal. WordPress is next.

Did HostGator have a security problem recently? None that we know of. What is the timetable for migration of services? We don't have one currently.

LRP (Conor Walsh): We will be meeting before or at Relaxacon.

Relaxacon (Rick Kovalcik): Relaxacon is at the end of the month. Sign up online at relaxacon.org.

Meeting Search (Janet Stickle): The committee is staffed and motivated and ready to go. We will be surveying the membership in a few cycles. We're happy to proceed.

Old Business: None.

New Business: None.
