PRESIDENT'S REPORT:
17 September 1995
The E-Board met last Tuesday at the Mandarin Restaurant in Cambridge. Officially discussed was the ConCom structure bylaw amendments put forth by the Long Range Planning Committee. The results of our discussions are in the Clerk's report.

At this time I would like to announce that I am withdrawing my self-nomination for re-election to the presidency, for reasons of wanting to reclaim some of my time for career and personal life.

The corporation has had a difficult year. We have had three different treasurers in the span of a single fiscal year. We had a convention which kept virtually no records of its financial transactions, and a host of other problems, some of which still haunt us. The backlash from the convention has continued, and distrust within the corporation and towards the Concom seems to be the main result. Despite all the problems, the corporate accounts reportedly have approximately $30,000 in them, and hopefully this year's convention will be better recorded and suffer from much less controversy.

It has been a unique job, serving as president over the past year. We have had complex controversies to act on, and in most cases, I feel that we arrived at productive solutions. I urge people to remember that we are working towards a common goal; and that power politics, internal distrust, factionalism and organizational xenophobia will work counter to what we want to be and do as expressed in our charter and bylaws. Thank you all who attended the meetings and participated in keeping the corporation running.

Respectfully submitted,
Joel Herda President, ARISIA, Inc.

TREASURER'S REPORT:
17 September 1995
Dale Farmer made a motion to obtain an estimate to straighten out the books for FY1994-1995, for a sum approximately between $100 not to exceed $200. It was pointed out that a CPA is responsible to report discrepancies directly to the IRS even if discrepancies turn out to be innocent. This motion was tabled for review by the next treasurer. A question was asked if the check to MITSFS was ever cashed? Dale reported that he had just received several bills, one from the IRS for unpaid sales tax for $500.

CLERK'S REPORT:
17 September 1995
Members are reminded to sign in.
Dues are due now! Once the annual election begins, all members who have not paid will not be able to vote in today's election. Deferment or waivers of dues may still be requested.
Please get the attention of one of the other board members. Remember, I'm suppose to be taking the notes and stopping the meeting to discuss anything is a really bad idea. So ask the vice-president, it'll give him something to do, or, as he is not at the meeting today, see the treasurer.
Members, and especially those running for office, should remember the purpose of ARISIA. From our Articles of Organization, the purpose of the corporation is to engage in the following activities:
To conduct meetings, conferences, lectures, discussions, film showings, art shows, exhibits, conventions, and other presentations concerning science fiction, fantasy, and related subjects. To promote the enhancement and furtherances of science fiction, fantasy, and related subjects in literature, artwork, films, theatre, radio, television, sound and video recordings, computer software, and all other media existing now or in the future.
To hold, sponsor, and promote the development of organized science fiction and fantasy fan activities.
To make grants for the foregoing purposes to organization and activities that qualify under section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code.
To act exclusively for education and literary purposes under section 170(c) and 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code.
To carry on any other lawful activities in furtherance of the foregoing and consistent with the requirements and constraints of section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code.

As most members should now know, I will not be seeking re-election as clerk of the corporation. Originally, I had planned not to say anything. Considering some of the things I remember from this year, perhaps I shouldn't. While I have enjoyed producing the corporate newsletter, and advising various members when asked on a point, I feel it is time to move on. As most of you know, I have not been active in fandom for very long. My first convention I worked at was ARISIA '91. I joined the corporation shortly after ARISIA '92.

While I have served as clerk to the best of my ability, I have tried not to let the authority go to my head. Whether I have succeeded or not, I really will never know. I will have to trust to your opinions. It is difficult stepping down, but, in the spirit of our Articles of Organization, I feel I must. Power, in any form, is a highly refined drug, and I have worried that I might be becoming addicted. I have seen what it has done to others. I've seen what it has done to this organization. It's time to remember why we are all members of ARISIA.

At this time, I would like to thank certain members for the assistance:
Thank you to Tim Roberge, for the numerous times he helped me and especially kept me sane during mailing runs of MENTOR.
Thank you to Chris Ivey for the numerous insights she has given me on the growth of the organization.

We sometimes forget she has been around since almost the founding. I don't know what the organization would have done if it was not for Chris' efforts and willingness to take on just about any job.

Thank you to Randall Cohen. Many in the organization do not know that Mr. Cohen took a loss on a sale of a computer to me as he felt that the clerk of the corporation should have something to work on to do his job. Don't let anyone tell you you're not fannish, Randall.

Thank you to Patrick McCormack and Kim Van Auken, as past E-Board members they freely gave their opinions and advice to a new member of the board when asked.

And lastly, thank you to Jeff Jordan, who taught me that it is the people of an organization which we must remain focused on.

And Now, because I promised certain members that I would make this my last wish...
I want to be a goddess, Claudius,
Thank you all,
Ed Dooley Clerk, ARISIA, Incorporated
